

March 15, 2001

Volume 33, No. 6

Cape Coral High School * 2300 Santa Barbara Boulevard * Cape Coral, Florida 33991

Mr. Seahawk

Amber Ratz

On Thursday, March 29, ten Cape High School seniors will compete against each other for the title of "Mr. Seahawk." Passing on the Mr. Seahawk crown is a long-standing Cape High tradition in which contestants are judged based upon their talent, poise, and personality.

"First of all, Mr. Seahawk is an enjoyable and exciting advance for the seniors to have fun; and second of all, it's always wonderful to recognize another Seahawk," said Principal, Wayne Nagy.

Some recent winners include Derek Zielinski (2000), Jack Marlow (1999), and the infamous 1998 winner and first Mrs. Seahawk, Sara Bondi.

"It was fun to make the entire class of 2000 laugh at me; but the most memory with impact was being told I was the winner, and then soon after being crowned "princess" of Cape Coral High School," said Derek Zielinski.

The contestants for the 2001 Mr. Seahawk contest will be:

Brian Wicks, a seventeen-year-old varsity football player. He admires his brother and father and sees himself married twice with eight kids in ten years.

Felix Lepa, an eighteen-year-old German, who thinks his ability to be a "chick magnet" is his best feature. His nicknames are "The German," "Flex," and "FeFe."

Kris Bollinger, aka "Bollo," who says his hobbies are weightlifting, partying, playing football, and spending time with the ladies. He likes a girl who is not picky, very outgoing, and could not care less what people think of them while they're together.

Yoni Rivera, a basketball and football playing fiend, who loves to break dance. This eighteen-year-old's role model is Michael Jordan, because of his basketball talent.

Richard Robinson, otherwise known as "Batman" or "Sisqo," who is the only nineteen-year-old of the bunch. He is involved with Model UN, Drama Club, Debate Club, and the captain of the Marching Band. He wants to be Mr. Seahawk to show that you don't have to be the most popular to achieve greatness.

Kurtis Melendez, the vice president of DECA, who says his unique style is his favorite quality in himself. Mrs. Leonard is his favorite teacher, because she taught him a lot about marketing, which is his future career.

Sean Fiene, EkoTren's bass player, who wants to be Mr. Seahawk so he can earn his fifteen minutes of fame. His role model is Dirk Diggler.

Reed Williams, senior class president, and homecoming king, who says he admires his parents, family, friends, and also the judges. Mrs. Probert is his favorite teacher, because she has taught him so much and has given him many opportunities. He thanks her for everything.

Dennis Tamayo, who sees himself training whales and working in marine science in ten years. He likes smart, mature girls.

Jontavious Pruitt, aka "J.P." or "Jonta," who admires his grandma and mother. They always tell him to follow his dreams and never allow anyone to stop him from achieving them. He says they are the greatest grandmother and mother anyone could ever have. His favorite memory is taking part in the first Black History show ever at Cape Coral High School.

Each contestant has his own reason for entering, including having an unforgettable memory. Chris Bollinger says, "I don't care if I win, I just want to be part of this, so I don't regret [not entering] this when I'm older."

This year's Mr. Seahawk program will be very different from past years. Because of the sprinkler problem in the auditorium, the event will be held in the gymnasium.

Since the acoustics in the gym are not as good as in the auditorium, the Seahawk's Eye staff has planned a raucous event loosely based upon the atmosphere of a boxing or wrestling show, complete with "ring girls."

"I think the contest maybe more of an open event, rather than just a show for the students to watch," said junior, Cristy Broadbent. "It will be fun."

The "ring girls" assisting the contestants will be senior girls Sarah Kranzel, Shelby Aleshire, and Callie Leatherberry. Girls from the journalism classes will also assist with advertisers' ring cards.

Additional performances will be provided by EkoTren, Sarah Morales with break dancers, and dance routines by some of the Seastarrs.

Judges will include Mr. Pitura; Coach Rausch; Miss Leggett; Mr. Kirley; former contestant, John Sgro; and Fox 4 reporter, Shelby Abbey.

"I really do it just because it's hilarious," said Leggett. "The past two years I've gone because it's really great, and I have fun."

The host is none other than one of the most popular DJs in Lee County, Big Mamma, from 105.5 "The Beat Jams."

Mr. Seahawk helps support the Cape High Newspaper, The Seahawk's Eye. This annual event will also be dedicated to the newspaper's former feature editor, ad manager, and top Mr. Seahawk prize collector, Katrina Bryant, who passed away this past September.

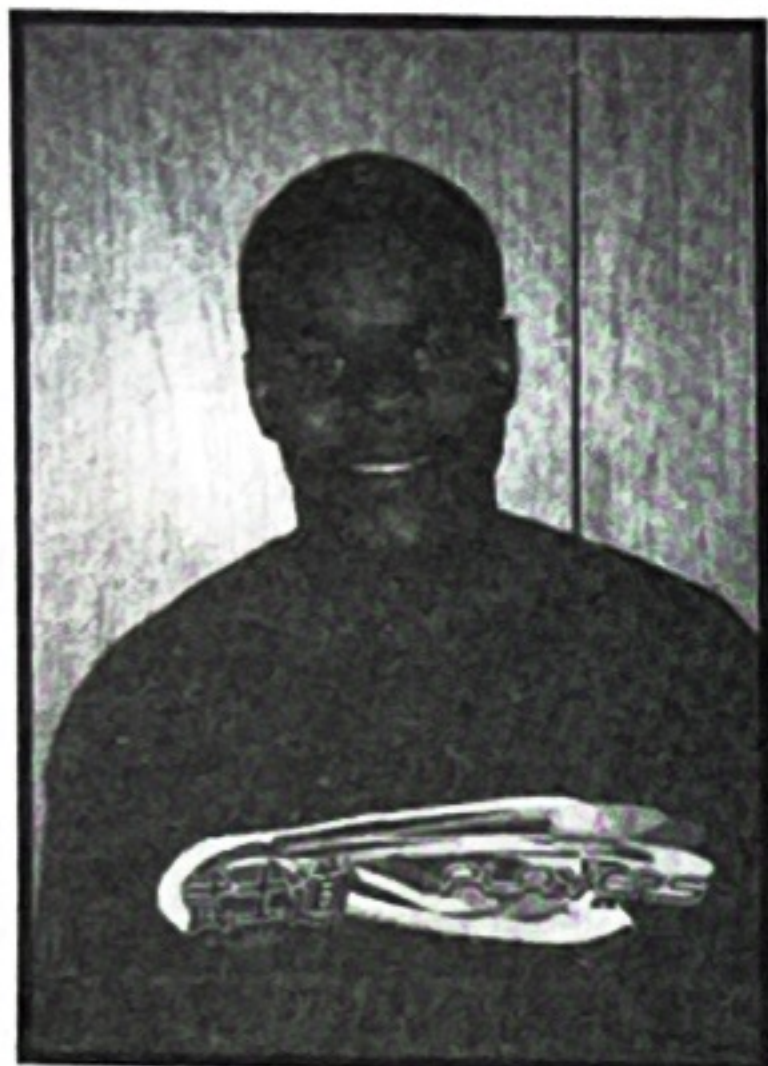

"I think it's wonderful to keep her memory alive," said Kelly Hernandez, Katrina's mother.

With Mr. Seahawk close at hand, a milestone for graduating seniors will have been reached. No doubt there will be a few tears shed among the laughter, as Mr. Seahawk is not only for male seniors, but also a celebration for all in the class of 2001.

Advance tickets will be sold during lunch for $3.00. Tickets at the door will be $5.00.

Reed Williams

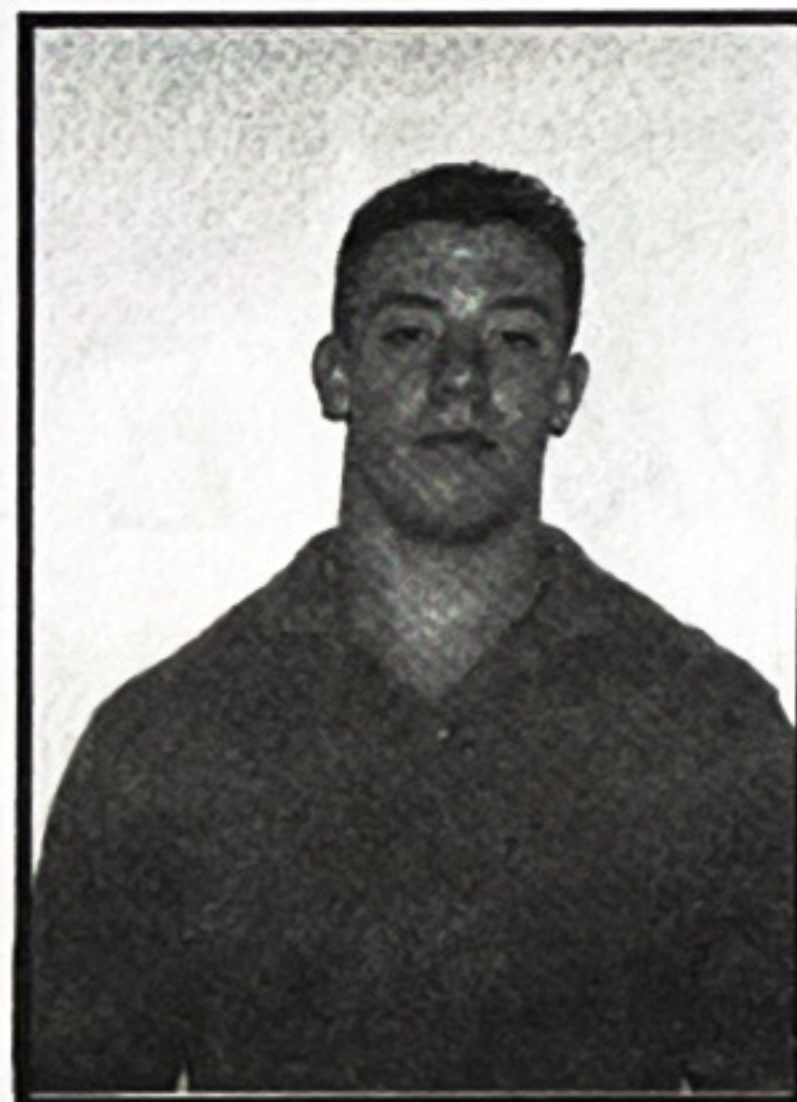

Jontavious Pruitt

Dennis Tamayo

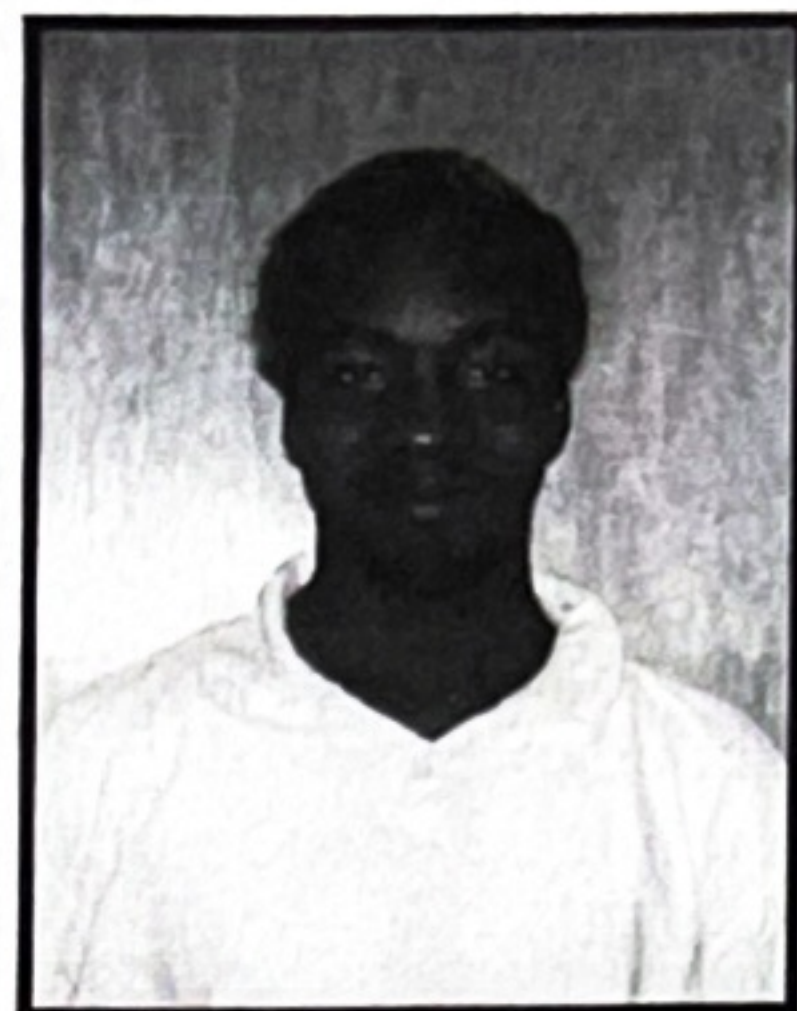

Brian Wicks

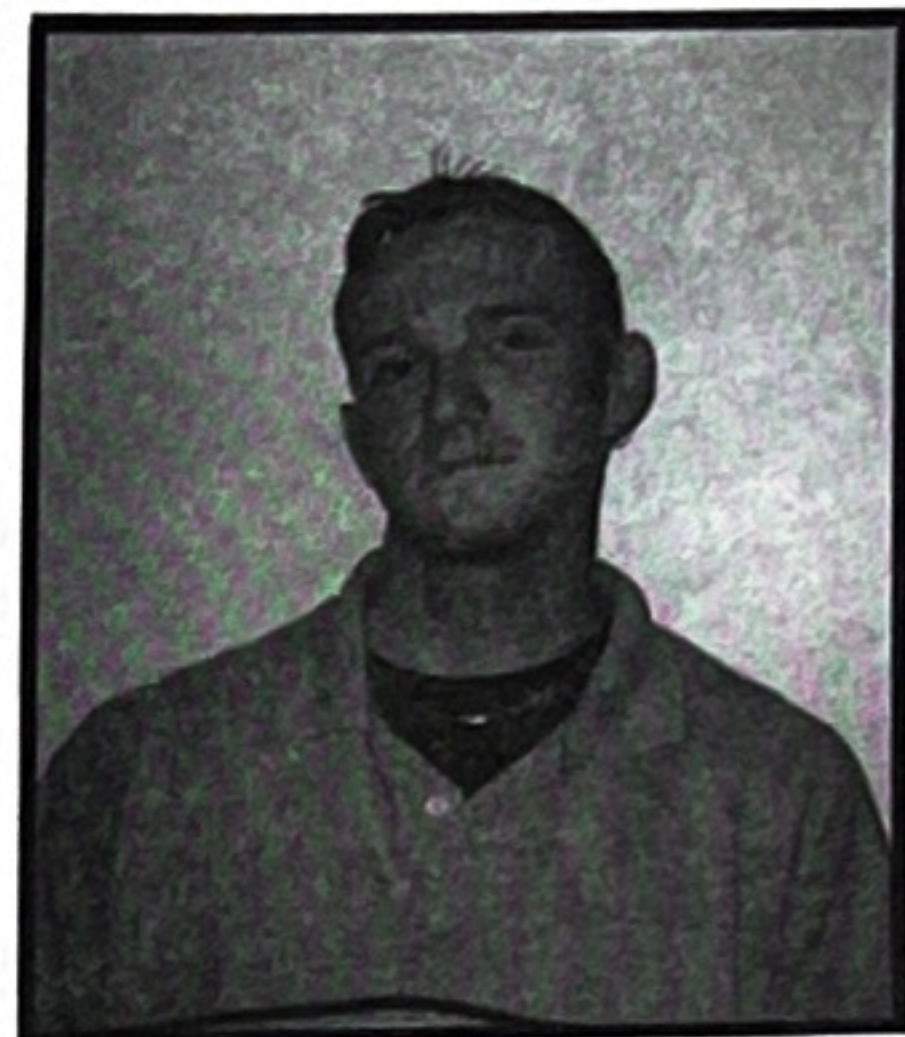

Kris Bollinger

Editorials; letters to the editor, Page 2.

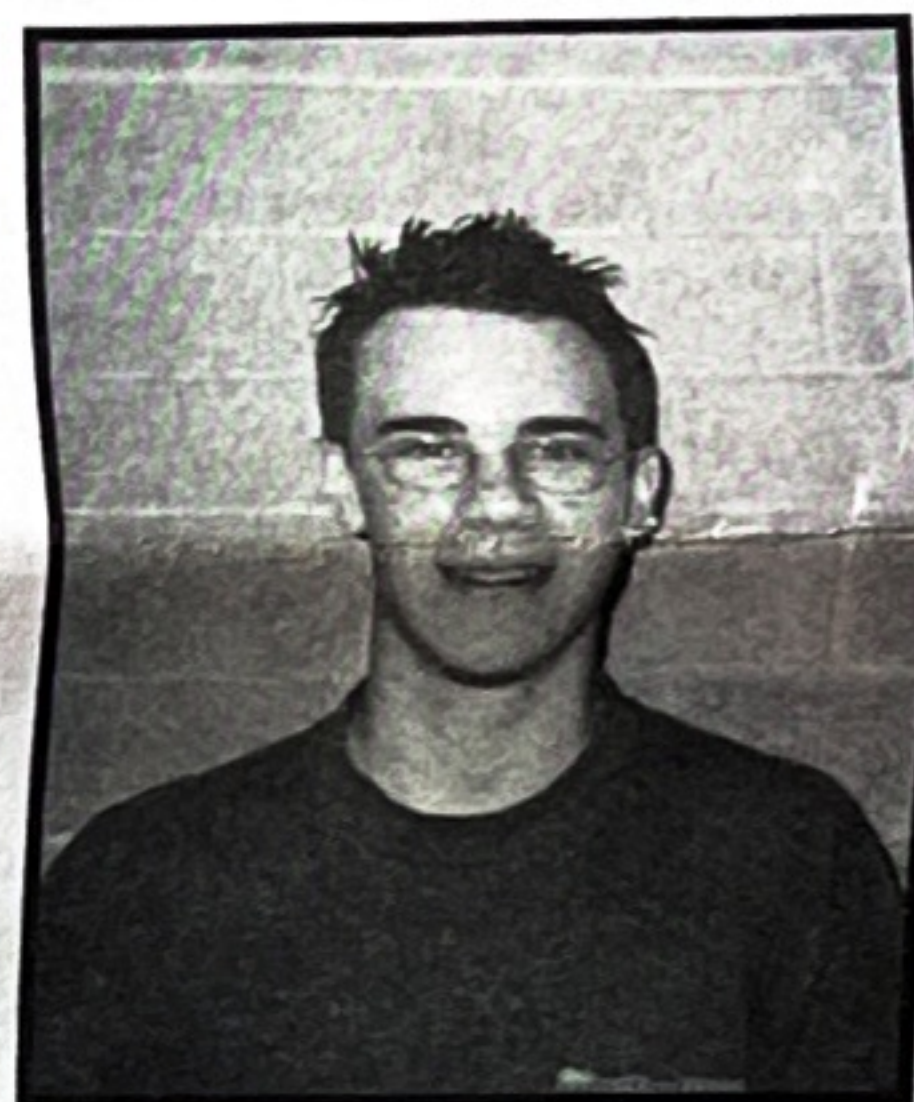

Cape High's newest Golden Apple, Mr. Kulie, Page 3.

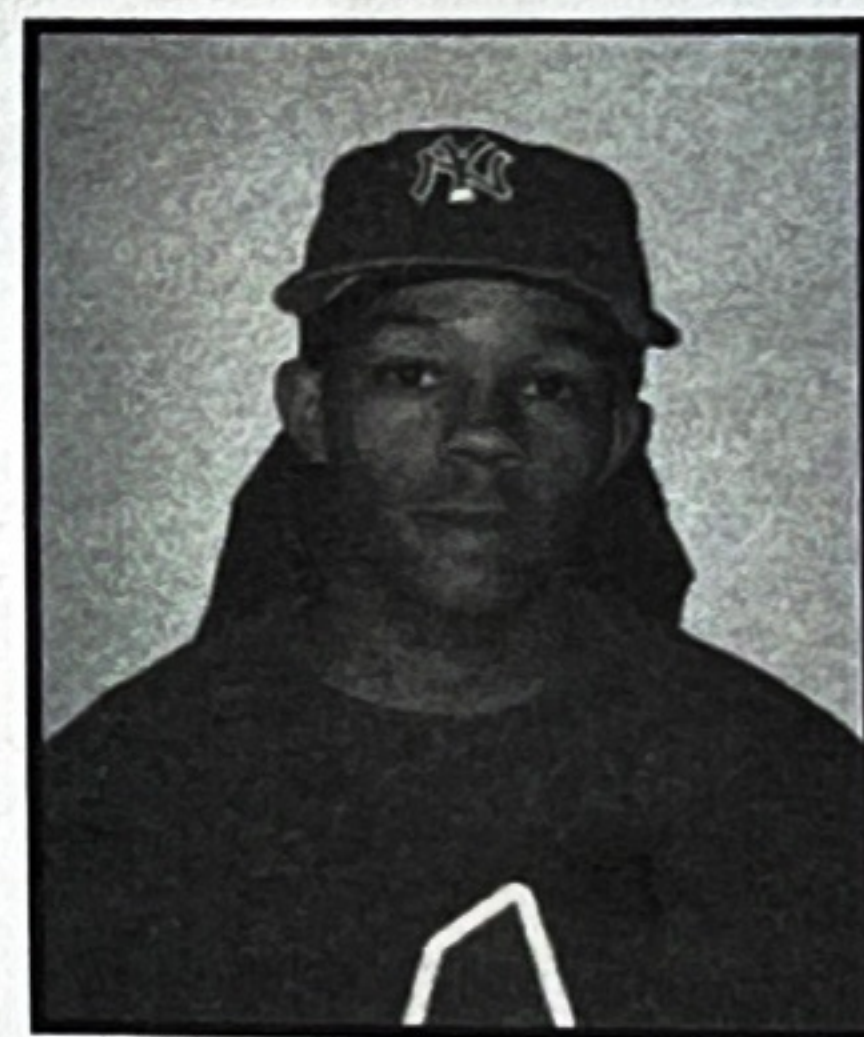

Richard Robinson

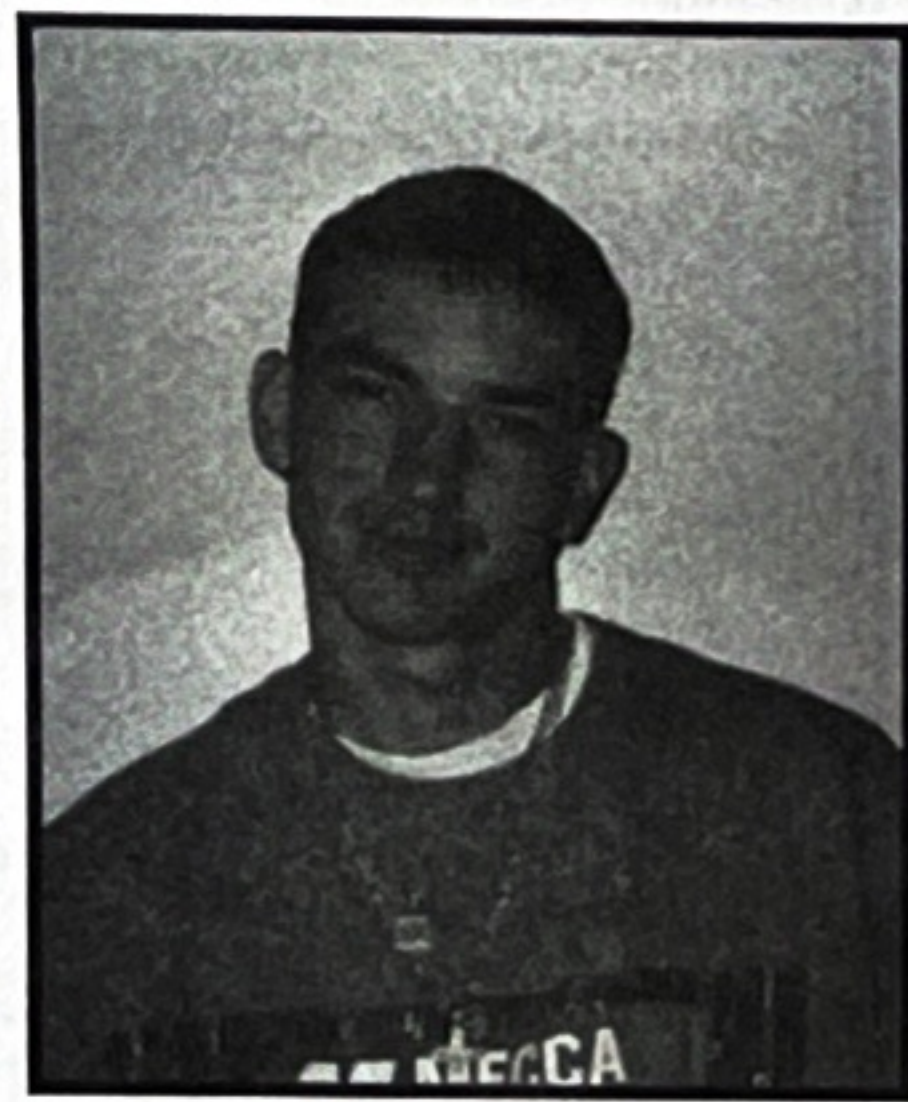

Sean Fiene

Felix Lepa

Yoni Rivera

Kurt Melendez

Ashley is going through many troubles, Page 5.

CCHS sports fans, checkout Page 6.

Ryan Libby

To some, censorship is not a word in their vocabularies, but to others, it is a way to protect innocent eyes and ears. Let me begin by explaining what censorship is.

Censorship is the banning of, or concealing of, objectionable material, be it to protect national security or to ban offensive material from public schools.

While some feel that censorship is a needed thing, I believe that it takes away from our first amendment rights (Congress will make no law respecting and establishing of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances).

Censorship

In schools, boards excuse banning materials because they say students' minds are too easily influenced, so they must protect us. For example, most schools have banned Carl Marx's Communist Manifesto, because they fear it will convince us to become communists. Not likely. The government bans materials because they don't want us easily swayed towards an idea, but isn't that what they are doing to us?

While some may agree with censorship, I believe that we will all develop our own opinions regardless of what is taught to us in schools. The more information we have, the more likely those opinions will be well-founded.

Clarification

In the February 14, 2001 issue of The Seahawk's Eye, our editor's Yeas & Nays column included a derogatory comment about the firing range participants in the school's Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC).

It was not the intent of the editor to cast disparagement on the participants or instructors in the program.

The comment was more of a reaction to the perceived irony of a firing range being built with School Board funds, considering the escalation of gun violence in schools (Columbine H. S., CO, and more recently Santana H. S., CA), and when the Board has a "zero" tolerance policy toward students bringing fire arms "to school, to any school function, or on any school-sponsored transportation."

The Seahawk's Eye staff acknowledges that the JROTC firing range is not in conflict with the Board's "zero" tolerance policy, especially as the air rifles will be provided for the students, and instruction and usage will be supervised.

Sexual Harassment

Heather Mahan

Sexual harassment is a part of our everyday lives. Many people are ignorant of what sexual harassment really is, and many more convince themselves they aren't instigators of it. Sexual harassment can affect people for their entire lives.

What exactly is sexual harassment? When someone is walking down the hall and you continually ask them out, especially if you aren't serious about it, it is sexual harassment. Making obscene comments, or reference to a person's sexual orientation, and touching a boy or girl's in an inappropriate place, are all common forms of sexual harassment.

It isn't common, but students are not the only ones who commit sexual harassment; I have observed teachers flirting with students in my classes.

The biggest problem with sexual harassment is that most people do not realize that verbal harassment is just as bad, if not worse, than physical harassment. If touched inappropriately, a person can often recover fairly quickly, but if a person is verbally harassed, he or she may be fearful of similar verbal attacks for the rest of their lives.

Sexual harassment is more than forcing someone to physically do something of a sexual nature; it is physical or mental abuse with a sexual intent. It can result in self-degradation, low self-esteem, or sexual insecurity. It isn't just men who commit it, females are just as capable. When a girl yells out an obscene comment to a guy, it is supposedly just in fun, but if a guy yells out an sexually inappropriate comment to a girl, he is considered to be harassing her. Of course it works in reverse too... if a guy sleeps with a girl on the first date, he is considered a hero, but if a girl sleeps with a guy on the first date, she is considered "easy." If the problem of sexual harassment is going to be resolved, it cannot be segregated.

The ironic thing is, as I was writing this story in the cafeteria, a boy came up to me and made a sexual comment. I thought it was funny and laughed; however, if someone else had said it, or if it had been said to someone who didn't see the humor in it, it would have been sexual harassment.

Sexual harassment is an issue most people want to avoid. Some people do blur the lines and take it too far—it is real and it does hurt. The next time you are with a group of friends "having fun" at someone else's expense, you have two choices—you can either be the hero and not join in on the "fun," or you can be a sheep and watch someone's pride wilt before your eyes.

Phooey to five minutes

Brad Bautista

Five minutes—three hundred seconds. According to Cape High's administration, this is enough time to get from one class to your locker, to the bathroom, and on to another class. As any student can (and will) tell you, this is not true — if one has a class in the history wing first period and a class in the math (or even worse, science) wing second period, it simply is not possible to get to a locker and make a visit to the bathroom and still be on time for the second class. Had any member of the administration ever tried this feat, he or she may consider having extra time allotted between classes. Maybe this was achievable in the past, but the changes made recently (assigned lockers mean you can't choose a locker near the restrooms if you need to go often), make it harder. Add onto that the fact that six unexcused tardies will cause you to lose credit, it makes the task all the more impossible; it's fairly hard to relieve oneself when bell anxiety is present.

Never mind that "I was using the restroom" is probably the best excuse one can give, it counts as an unexcused tardy, nonetheless. In the box provided is a chart of nearby high schools and the lengths of their passing periods:

Clearly, Cape High is not the only school to adopt a 5-minute rule; four other local schools have the same time limit. However, the three remaining schools have adopted longer passing periods, most probably to prevent students from being late. If this is the case, it would make sense that the longer passing periods would be reciprocated by a lower number of tardies; one would assume this is the case, however, due to time constraints for this editorial, that hypothesis can be neither confirmed nor denied. One thing that can be confirmed, however, is the desire for longer passing periods expressed not only by students, but by teachers, as well. The students are for it, the faculty is for it; why isn't it happening?

Passing Periods of Lee County High Schools

|           |            |
|-----------|------------|
| Cape      | 5 minutes  |
| Cypress   | 5 minutes  |
| Esterio   | 6 minutes  |
| Ft. Myers | 10 minutes |
| Lehigh    | 5 minutes  |
| Mariner   | 8 minutes  |
| North     | 5 minutes  |
| Riverdale | 5 minutes  |

Letters to The Seahawk's Eye

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to Mina Busby's article "No One Should Be Left Out On Valentine's Day..." in the February edition of the Seahawk's Eye. I'd like to first commend her on her courage to put that article in our school's newspaper. It is the first movement I've seen dealing with the acceptance of gays in our community, yet. I too, share the same feelings about homophobia. This seems to be a very large problem that everyone keeps quiet about in this school.

The purpose of this letter is to help bring the problem of discrimination into the light. Discrimination is not just between our students but also between our faculty and our administration, among each other and towards the students. The Lee County School Board only protects by law those who are harassed because of sex, race, national origin, disability, age, and marital status, not sexual orientation. This forces many gay, lesbian, bisexual, and transgender (GLBT) students, teachers, and administrators to not come out of the proverbial closet for fear of harassment or loss of job (for employees of the School Board).

Homophobia is alive in our schools and is evident because 90% of GLBT students regularly hear anti-gay comments at school; over a third hear these comments from staff, and 70% of GLBT students report verbal, sexual or physical harassment. The lack of acceptance for GLBT individuals causes them to not accept themselves, leading to drugs, skipping or dropping out of school, or even running away from home.

I plan for this letter to be the first of many to the School Board and State officials urging for the protection of GLBT individuals in public schools. Harassment and discrimination due to sexual orientation should not be tolerated in our schools and needs to be stopped. Thank you,

Name withheld by editor

The Seahawk's Eye

Cape Coral High School
2300 Santa Barbara Boulevard
Cape Coral, Florida 33991
Ph: (941) 574-6766 Fax: (941) 574-7799
<http://www.lee.k12.fl.us/cch/teachers/hawkseye/index.html>
Wayne Nagy, Principal

Editor-in-Chief: Amber Ratz
Page Designer: Amber Ratz
Opinion Editor: Amber Ratz
Features Editor: Katrina Howell
Sports Editor: Rui Carmo
News Editor: Andrew Windish
Senior Editor: Cesar Nunez
Junior Editor: Brad Bautista
Ad Editor: Meghan Peck
Tech Specialist: Ryan Libby
Graphic Artist: Juan Diaz
Computer Design: Andrew Windish
Adviser: Mary Lynn Canton

The Seahawk's Eye is printed in loving memory of Katrina Ann Bryant.

The Seahawk's Eye is a not-for-profit, self-supporting student publication that strives to entertain and inform readers through accurate and responsible reporting, while providing students with an open forum of expression.

All unsigned editorials express the opinion of the editorial board. Signed editorials are the opinions of the writers, not necessarily those of the entire staff. Acceptance of advertising does not imply endorsement.

The views and opinions expressed in The Seahawk's Eye do not necessarily reflect the views of The School District of Lee County.

Awards

CSPA Gold Crown—1991
CSPA Silver Crown—1992
CSPA Medalist—1998-99
FSPA All-Florida—1989, 92, 93
FSPA 1st Place—1994-97
Quill & Scroll Gallup Award—1989-92
NSPA All-American—1991-97

Kulie wins Golden Apple

Andrew Windish

Cape High's very own teacher, Jeff Kulie, was awarded the prestigious Golden Apple on Wednesday, February 28.

Kulie has been teaching for two years (English and speech), formerly leaving the business world as a corporate communications trainer.

"I am truly honored. I know I will be walking with a brighter step in the coming days."

The Golden Apple is not the only award Kulie has won. He also won the Lee County Beginning English Teacher of the Year in the 1999-2000 school year.

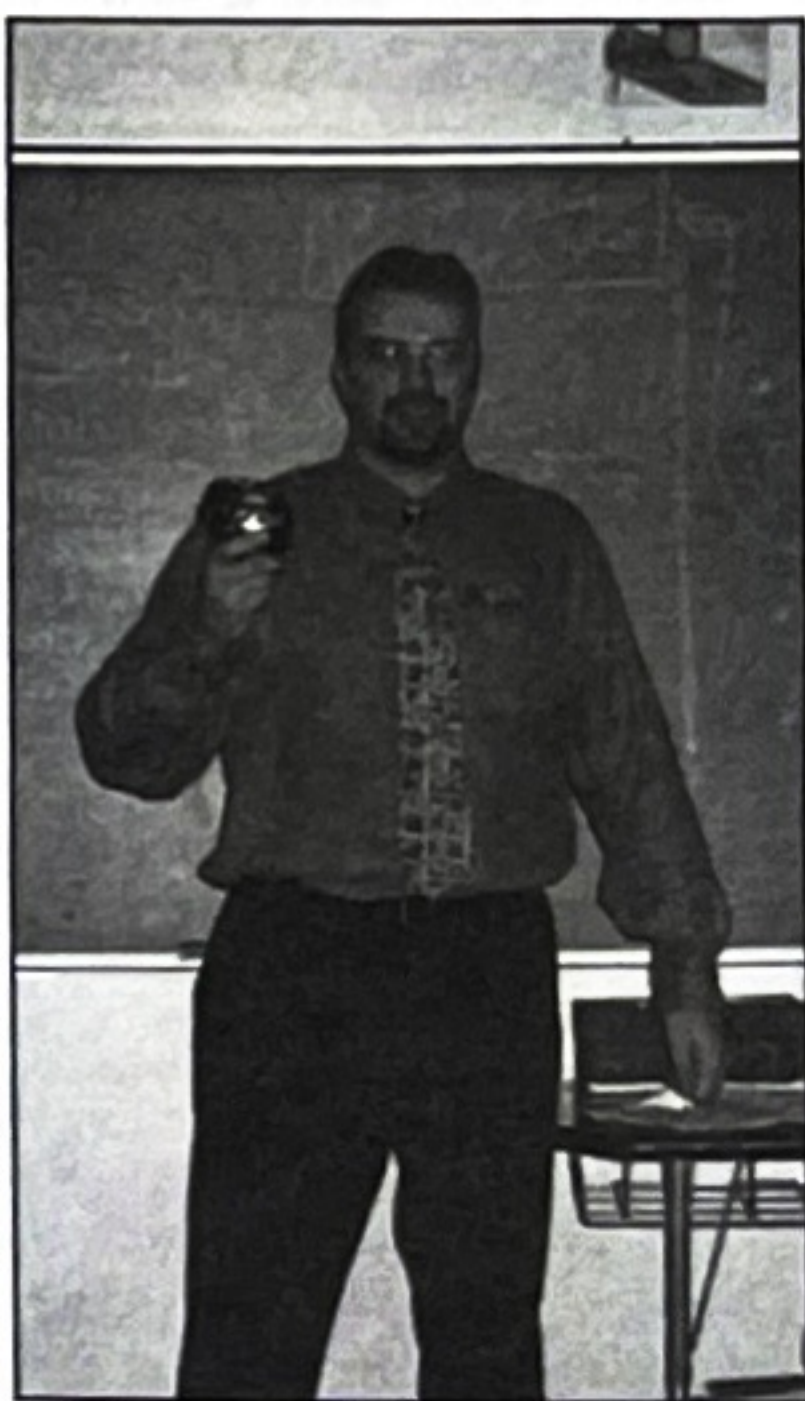

This hit Kulie unexpectedly; he was speechless as the media and school staff rushed into the room.

"Mr. Kulie is a dynamic, creative, professional instructor who is totally committed to the students at Cape Coral High School," said Principal Wayne Nagy.

As a Golden Apple winner, Kulie receives the Gold Apple, $3,000 in cash, a $1,500 scholarship to Nova Southeastern University, a Golden Apple lapel pin, a leather portfolio, and a membership into the Academy of Teachers.

This year 1,770 teachers were nominated for Golden Apple. From there the list was rounded down to 32 finalists, including Kulie and another Cape High teacher, William West. All of the semi-finalists were observed in the classroom, and from that, six finalists were chosen. Kulie was the only high school teacher in Lee County to receive this most honorable award.

Kulie's teaching ethics include "thinking outside the box". Kulie's students say that he is understanding, caring, and he has a special ability to make learning fun, and to difficult material more understandable.

Staff Photo

Mr. Kulie holds up his Golden Apple after receiving it during his class.

Every year, Cape High has the largest number of Golden Apple finalists. Kulie now joins Cape's other Golden Apple teachers which include: William Dubee, Diane Stewart, Dorothy Gorton, Marcia Fain, Leanne Migliore, Derrick Donnell, and Ingela Conley.

Kulie and the other Golden Apple winners will be honored at the Golden Apple banquet. This televised event will be on WINK TV (Cable 5 in Cape Coral) on March 30, at 8:00 P.M.

Super Biking Seahawk

Amber Ratz

Cape High junior Ryan Zielinski is passionate about his hobby, BMX racing.

Ryan practices at the Cape Coral BMX track on Skyline Boulevard practically every day.

"Consistency is the main thing to get better," said Zielinski. "I stopped once, and I got bad; now I'm out there all the time."

Ryan races every Saturday. Some races take him to different areas, cities, or states. "Kentucky was probably my favorite," said Zielinski. "It has the biggest track. Everything's really big on it, and it's really fast."

When Ryan was only nine-years-old, Ryan ranked fourth in the nation.

"He always gets up in the top 10 in Florida within his class," said former owner of the Cape Coral BMX track, Dave Smith, "Smitty."

Ryan likes to BMX because it is an alternative to the school sports most play.

"It's different than everything else; it's not a jock sport," said Zielinski.

Being injured and becoming restricted from riding is what Ryan says is the worst part of racing.

"You're trying to be better than everyone else at the same time, while concentrating on being faster and smoother," said Zielinski.

This seventeen-year-old has a lot of future ahead of him, but now he just enjoys racing and doing tricks, like his favorite, the 360 Turndown.

Ryan Zielinski at a BMX race.

"I've known him for three to four years," said Smitty. "The whole time he's been here, he's been a serious racer. He's a very good kid to us here at the track, we're very happy to have him."

Not only is Ryan an awesome rider, but also a gifted trumpet player for the Seahawk Marching Band. Ryan also has put together a punk band with a few of his friends, called Bazooka Joe. The band played at the Edison Parade and at the Fort Myers Skate Park this past March 2.

"I like music, without it, everybody would be bored," said Zielinski.

Ryan is a modest teen, but very interesting. His qualities shine through his shy exterior, which makes him a Super Seahawk!

News Briefs

Andrew Windish

FloridaBandmaster's Festival

On February 23 and 24, Cape Coral High School's Band and Color Guard participated in the Florida Bandmaster's District Festival (FBA). This festival only awards first (Blue Ribbon) and second (Red Ribbon) division finishes.

Cape High sent 40 students to the festival and came back with 40 ribbons (16 Blue and 24 Red). Of special note were Billy Sullivan, Rachelle Salster, and Britni Foster, who were awarded Firsts for artistic expression in their solo performances on flag, rifle, and saber. These students were responsible for selecting their own music and designing their own choreographed routines—similar to figure skating competitions.

Band Director Robert Quatman said "I am pleased for all of the success of the Cape Band students at FBA this year, but I am especially proud of these three kids who put in such hard work on their own, and demonstrated individual artistic and creative skills as well as personal discipline and commitment at the highest level."

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA)

The Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) held its district competitions on Thursday, February 15. Cape High sent 22 students and all 22 placed in the events. First place winners were Laura Lander (Public Speaking I), Jenny Lafontant (Public Speaking II), and Weeya Baysah (Job Interview). These three will have the opportunity to compete in state competitions in April.

Commissioner's Academic Challenge

Cape Coral High School junior Aaron Rys has been chosen to represent Lee County in the "Commissioner's Academic Challenge." Coach Shelley Kepler, of Cypress Lake High School, will accompany the Lee County team to the state competition in April. In addition to Rys, other team members are Jennifer Ambler and Cam Siggs, Fort Myers High School; Youssef Bankhatat, North Fort Myers High School; and David Brunell and Tabitha Cale, Cypress Lake High School.

Fresh face for Cape Coral High School

Photo by Amber Ratz

Cape's new JROTC addition is under construction.

Amber Ratz

Construction is obvious here on Cape High's grounds.

After the JROTC portable was removed, and the number of JROTC students increased, the Lee County School Board agreed to fund construction for a new facility that will benefit all students at Cape High, not just those in JROTC.

The construction began in late December of 2000 and is expected to be finished in July. The 2001-2002 school year will start with a new 1666 square-foot pellet gun firing range, a 1036 square-foot JROTC room, two 842 square-foot classrooms, a 1075 square-foot corridor, a 941 square-foot ESE room, along with a bathroom and mechanical room.

"It's the beginning of the school's renovation," said Vice Principal Joe Pitura. "We're the oldest school in Lee County, so hopefully this is just the beginning."

The total cost of the renovation is approximately one million dollars, which includes payment for safety instructors, construction builders, equipment, and supplies.

JROTC focuses on producing candidates for the military through its training, which includes marksmanship and drills. The program started out with 2,000 students in Lee County and has grown to a booming 4,000.

"We have the best program, and the worst facilities," said Cape High Senior Army Instructor, Major Best. "It's like an old time schoolhouse, all different types having to learn in one room. This will be better training."

Monthly Music Review

Amber Ratz

In a school full of different cultures and backgrounds, we find a bowl full of different music interests.

Music has always brought together large numbers of people. We have styles from Dream to Less Than Jake (see Ryan Libby's review below), and Master P to Crushdown (also in Libby's column).

The latest Pop group had a boost from a music veteran to reach the top. Sean "Puffy" Combs introduced the all girl group, Dream, to the world. It Was All A Dream flew these girls into success within a month. Their single, "He Loves You Not," has become an anthem for many teen girls around the country. There is also a remix of the single as well. The album contains seventeen creative tracks. "This Is Me" is a girl reassuring her guy that she won't hurt him like his ex did. The album is full of unique plots, hip beats, and sizzling vocals. The regulars on MTV's TRL cover the album with seductive glares from the group.

The R&B album is by a woman who received Grammy nominations for her interesting CD entitled, "Who is Jill Scott?" Jill Scott released her "Long Walk" single with no expectations. Her songs took over the soul department with her poetic lyrics and slow tempos. The mood is very deep and loving, with a sign of heartbreak. The album contains nineteen songs, one is a hidden bonus. Although not all songs are totally interesting, like "Love Rain" with repetitive beats, some do have promise. "The Way" is a loving song to a boyfriend, with the girl asking why she loves him so much. Jill Scott covers the record with her face covered with a hat.

The Rap album is from the notorious Master P. His latest record, Ghetto Postage, released the single, "Souldjas." "Bout Dat" and "Life I Live" are other pumping songs on the CD. "Life I Live" is a shout out to all who stand by him. His album has twenty-three songs, all detailing P's life, with a slow sound. The infamous soldier again represents No Limit Records. The twenty-three track record is covered with P standing with a threatening posture.

Whether you like R&B or Rock, each of these CD's gets you either in an emotional frenzy or a thinking mood. Pick your favorite out of the bunch.

Ryan Libby's take on Less Than Jake and Crushdown

Less Than Jake is back with another great Alternative release! The single from this album is "Look What Happened." This is a big improvement over their last album, "Hello Rockview," which I thought was a very mediocre album. "Borders and Boundaries" is more up to the standard that Less Than Jake fans have grown accustomed to. It's a little less ska and more punk, but with more horns. That sounds contradictory, but they managed it.

There is nothing groundbreaking about this album, but even with the slight change in music, there is no doubting the distinctive Less Than Jake style and sound. This album is a must for any Less Than Jake fan. Their best album still remains to be Losing Streak though, so if you're a new listener to the guys from Gainesville, make sure to pick that up as well. As an added bonus, on their back cover with the track listings is a cool little doo-dad.

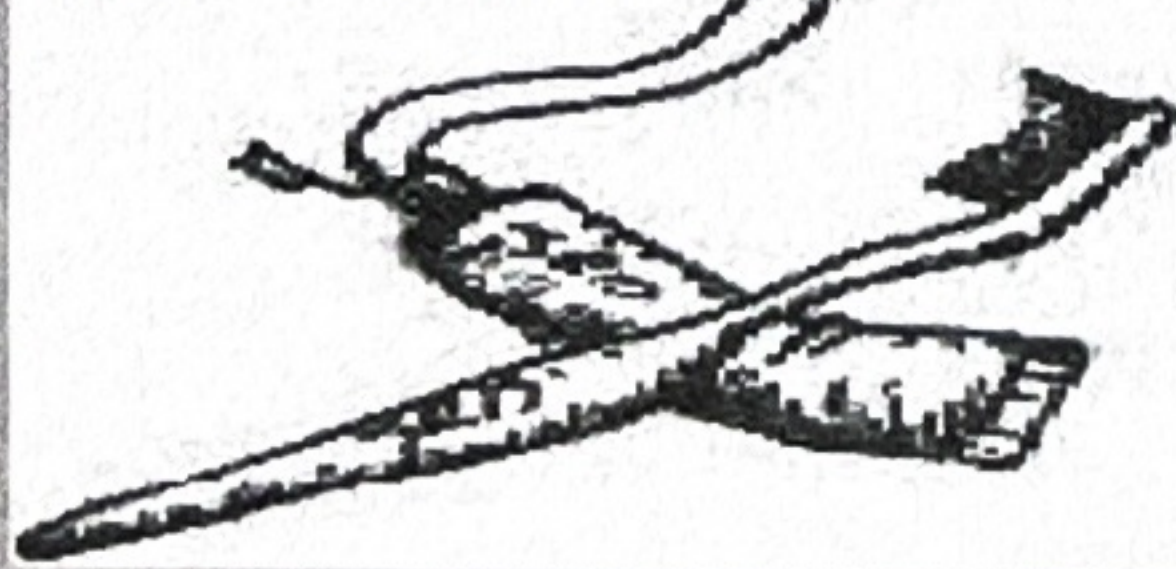

Every once in a while, a band that provides more than a glimmer of hope that rock music of old and new can join hands in a friendly, unforced brigade of sonic glee. Crushdown provides this rush. In a low lying, ground razing swirl of sludge, the title track slams us with an Alice in Chains throat scraper of a chorus, yet relies more heavily on pensive melody than one might suspect. "Monday" is a dark, yet infectious shuffle that gives way to yet more top notch, natural hook, while "Dosage" adds a bit more depth to the already stacked abilities of the band. This time we are lulled into a pleasantness that sucker punches us with a slow tornado of a riff. "Water" has a dreamy, slightly psychedelic trip accented by Justin Raymond's flexible vocalizations. "Close My Eyes" is a wall of sound that devastates any understatement felt on the rest of the set, and comes the closest to cloning the Layne Staley factor.

Healthy Habits

Andrew Windish

Drinking cola—can it make you overweight?

A recent study taken shows that by drinking cola you can gain weight. The study was taken with people ages 10-12. What can you do? Cut down on drinking so much (stop drinking it in school). Instead of coke, drink water or orange juice. It will give you a boost of energy and will help keep you fit.

Building Up Your Abs

Who needs an expensive abdominal building machine or something similar when you can do the same thing without buying anything? Find something around your house with wheels and a handle (office chair, rolling pin) and use it in the same motion.

When is cologne too much? Here's how to test.

Put your cologne on as usual, then take a light tissue or thin piece of paper and put it on the area. If the tissue or paper stays applied to the area, you have too much cologne on, and you should wait 15 minutes before going out.

Start Your Day Off Right

If you are feeling low on energy by second period, or are hungry by first period, try eating something healthy for breakfast. Instead of eating something that is sugar coated and comes from a frozen bag in the freezer, try waking up early and making some good homemade food. It will give you a boost of energy.

Horoscopes

Aries 3/21 to 4/19

Never be afraid to go against the flow. You don't have to jump just because everyone else is.

Love—Love is not obvious this month, but if you really want it, you will find it.

Color—White
Good Days—22
Love Days—28

Taurus 4/20 to 5/20

Try to look at things from other people's perspectives—you can't be right all the time.

Love—A recent relationship is more than it seems. Be open-minded this month.

Color—Black
Good Days—17
Love Days—30

Gemini 5/21 to 6/20

It's going to be a long month, bust stick it out, and you will profit. Complaining only worsens the problems.

Love—Love comes easily to you this month, but be careful.

Colors—Purple
Good Days—27
Love Days—30

Cancer 6/21 to 7/22

This month is a breeze for you, because you make the best of even the worst situations.

Love—Don't rule out the people closest to you.

Color—Green
Good Days—29
Love Days—17

Leo 7/23 to 8/22

Showing a lack of respect for others may cause your social life to fall slightly, but in the end you can always rely on your true friends.

Love—There is too much debris in the way from an old relationship. Take some time to clear the clutter.

Color—Blue
Good Days—18
Love Days—15

Virgo 8/23 to 9/22

Impress people by showing how effectively you handle a hectic situation. Patience is a virtue.

Love—Don't be afraid to state your feelings this month.

Color—Pink
Good Days—31
Love Days—19

Libra 9/23 to 10/23

Humiliating others proves to be harsh on your relationships. Try to tone down your sarcasm.

Love—Try dropping hints to get the object of affection to notice you.

Good Days—30
Love Days—26

Scorpio 10/24 to 11/21

Don't rush through the month. Leave yourself some time to reflect on yourself and think about things to come.

Love—Love is difficult, but it will work out for the better.

Color—Yellow
Good Days—25
Love Days—28

Sagittarius 11/22 to 12/21

Anger and stress create a mental block for you. Relieve stress by breaking down barriers and trying new things.

Love—Love should be a mutual feeling. Share your emotions.

Color—Red
Good Days—15
Love Days—31

Capricorn 12/22 to 1/19

Carpe Diem! Seize the Day! Stop worrying about life and enjoy the people around you this month.

Love—Love is not immediate, but your patience and loyalty pays off.

Color—Blue
Good Days—25
Love Days—30

Aquarius 1/20 to 2/18

Try relaxing but not over stressing your self. Take things day by day.

Love—Like the song, love will keep you together.

Color—Brown
Good Days—26
Love Days—18

Pisces 2/19 to 3/20

New experiences prove beneficial to your future. Don't be shy; jump in!

Love—keep things simple and honest.

Color—Orange
Good Days—20
Love Days—17

Movie Review

Michael Forgione

The Mexican

Starring:

Brad Pitt
Julia Roberts
James Gandolfini

Jerry Welbach, a reluctant bagman, has been given two ultimatums: The first is from his mob boss to travel to Mexico and retrieve a priceless antique pistol, known as "the Mexican" . . . or suffer the consequences. The second is from his girlfriend, Samantha, to end his association with the mob. Jerry figures being alive and in trouble with Samantha is better than the more permanent alternative, so he heads south of the border. Finding the pistol proves easy. Getting it home is another matter. The pistol supposedly carries a legendary curse—a legend Jerry is given every reason to believe . . . especially when Samantha is taken hostage by a hit man to ensure the safe return of the pistol.

Ashley's Adventures

After my obsession with weight loss and personal appearance, I decided to take the world head on, regardless of how I looked. I figured if I kept myself busy, I wouldn't have time to worry about those things anyway. I signed up to take self improvement classes at Barbizon International, I joined the school's newspaper team, debate team, drama club, and I signed up to work backstage with the school's musical production of Bye Bye Birdie. Boy, was I busy! I stayed after school everyday, sometimes until 9:30.

Then, I'd go home and clean the house, since my Mom took up a new job that ends late. I would do my homework about midnight. In the mornings I'd have to wake up extra early to eat breakfast with my Mom and drive her to work, because I needed the car after school to get home. By the end of the school week, I was a walking, talking, pre-programed droid from Star Trek or something. Then on Saturday I went to the class I joined at Barbizon International. While I was there, they told us about time management and proper sleeping habits. They said we were supposed to have at least eight hours of sleep every night. I chuckled to myself, because I sleep a maximum of four hours of sleep every night.

After the class, the speaker lady (I've forgotten her name) told me to stay. She told me about the importance of rest and of not over working myself, yadda, yadda, yadda, body couldn't handle the stress, I'd get sick weak—that sort of thing. I just smiled, nodded, left, and completely forgot what she'd said. I doubt I caught much of it anyway.

A week later I came down with a bad cold and wound up losing my voice. I became frustrated and angry, because I couldn't take part in many debate team activities, and the antibiotics I was on slowed me down even more; so, I started falling asleep in classes and became very irritable. I fell behind in all my classes, I couldn't concentrate on anything. I looked down right awful and worst of all, my friends hated me! They said I was pushing everyone away and acting really stuck up.

That Saturday I was at Barbizon, and again the speaker chic (I think it was Brandi or Brenda . . . something like that) kept me after. She said she was really worried about me. She (again) told me everything that would happen if I didn't slow down. As she was ticking off consequences on her fingers, I realized everything had already happened, except for a free trip to a looney bin.

This time I decided to take her advice and slow down. I dropped out of drama, debate, and I only went backstage when people were needed. Newspaper I didn't drop, because the writing helped relax me. Barbizon I didn't drop either, because it prevented me from causing myself any more damage.

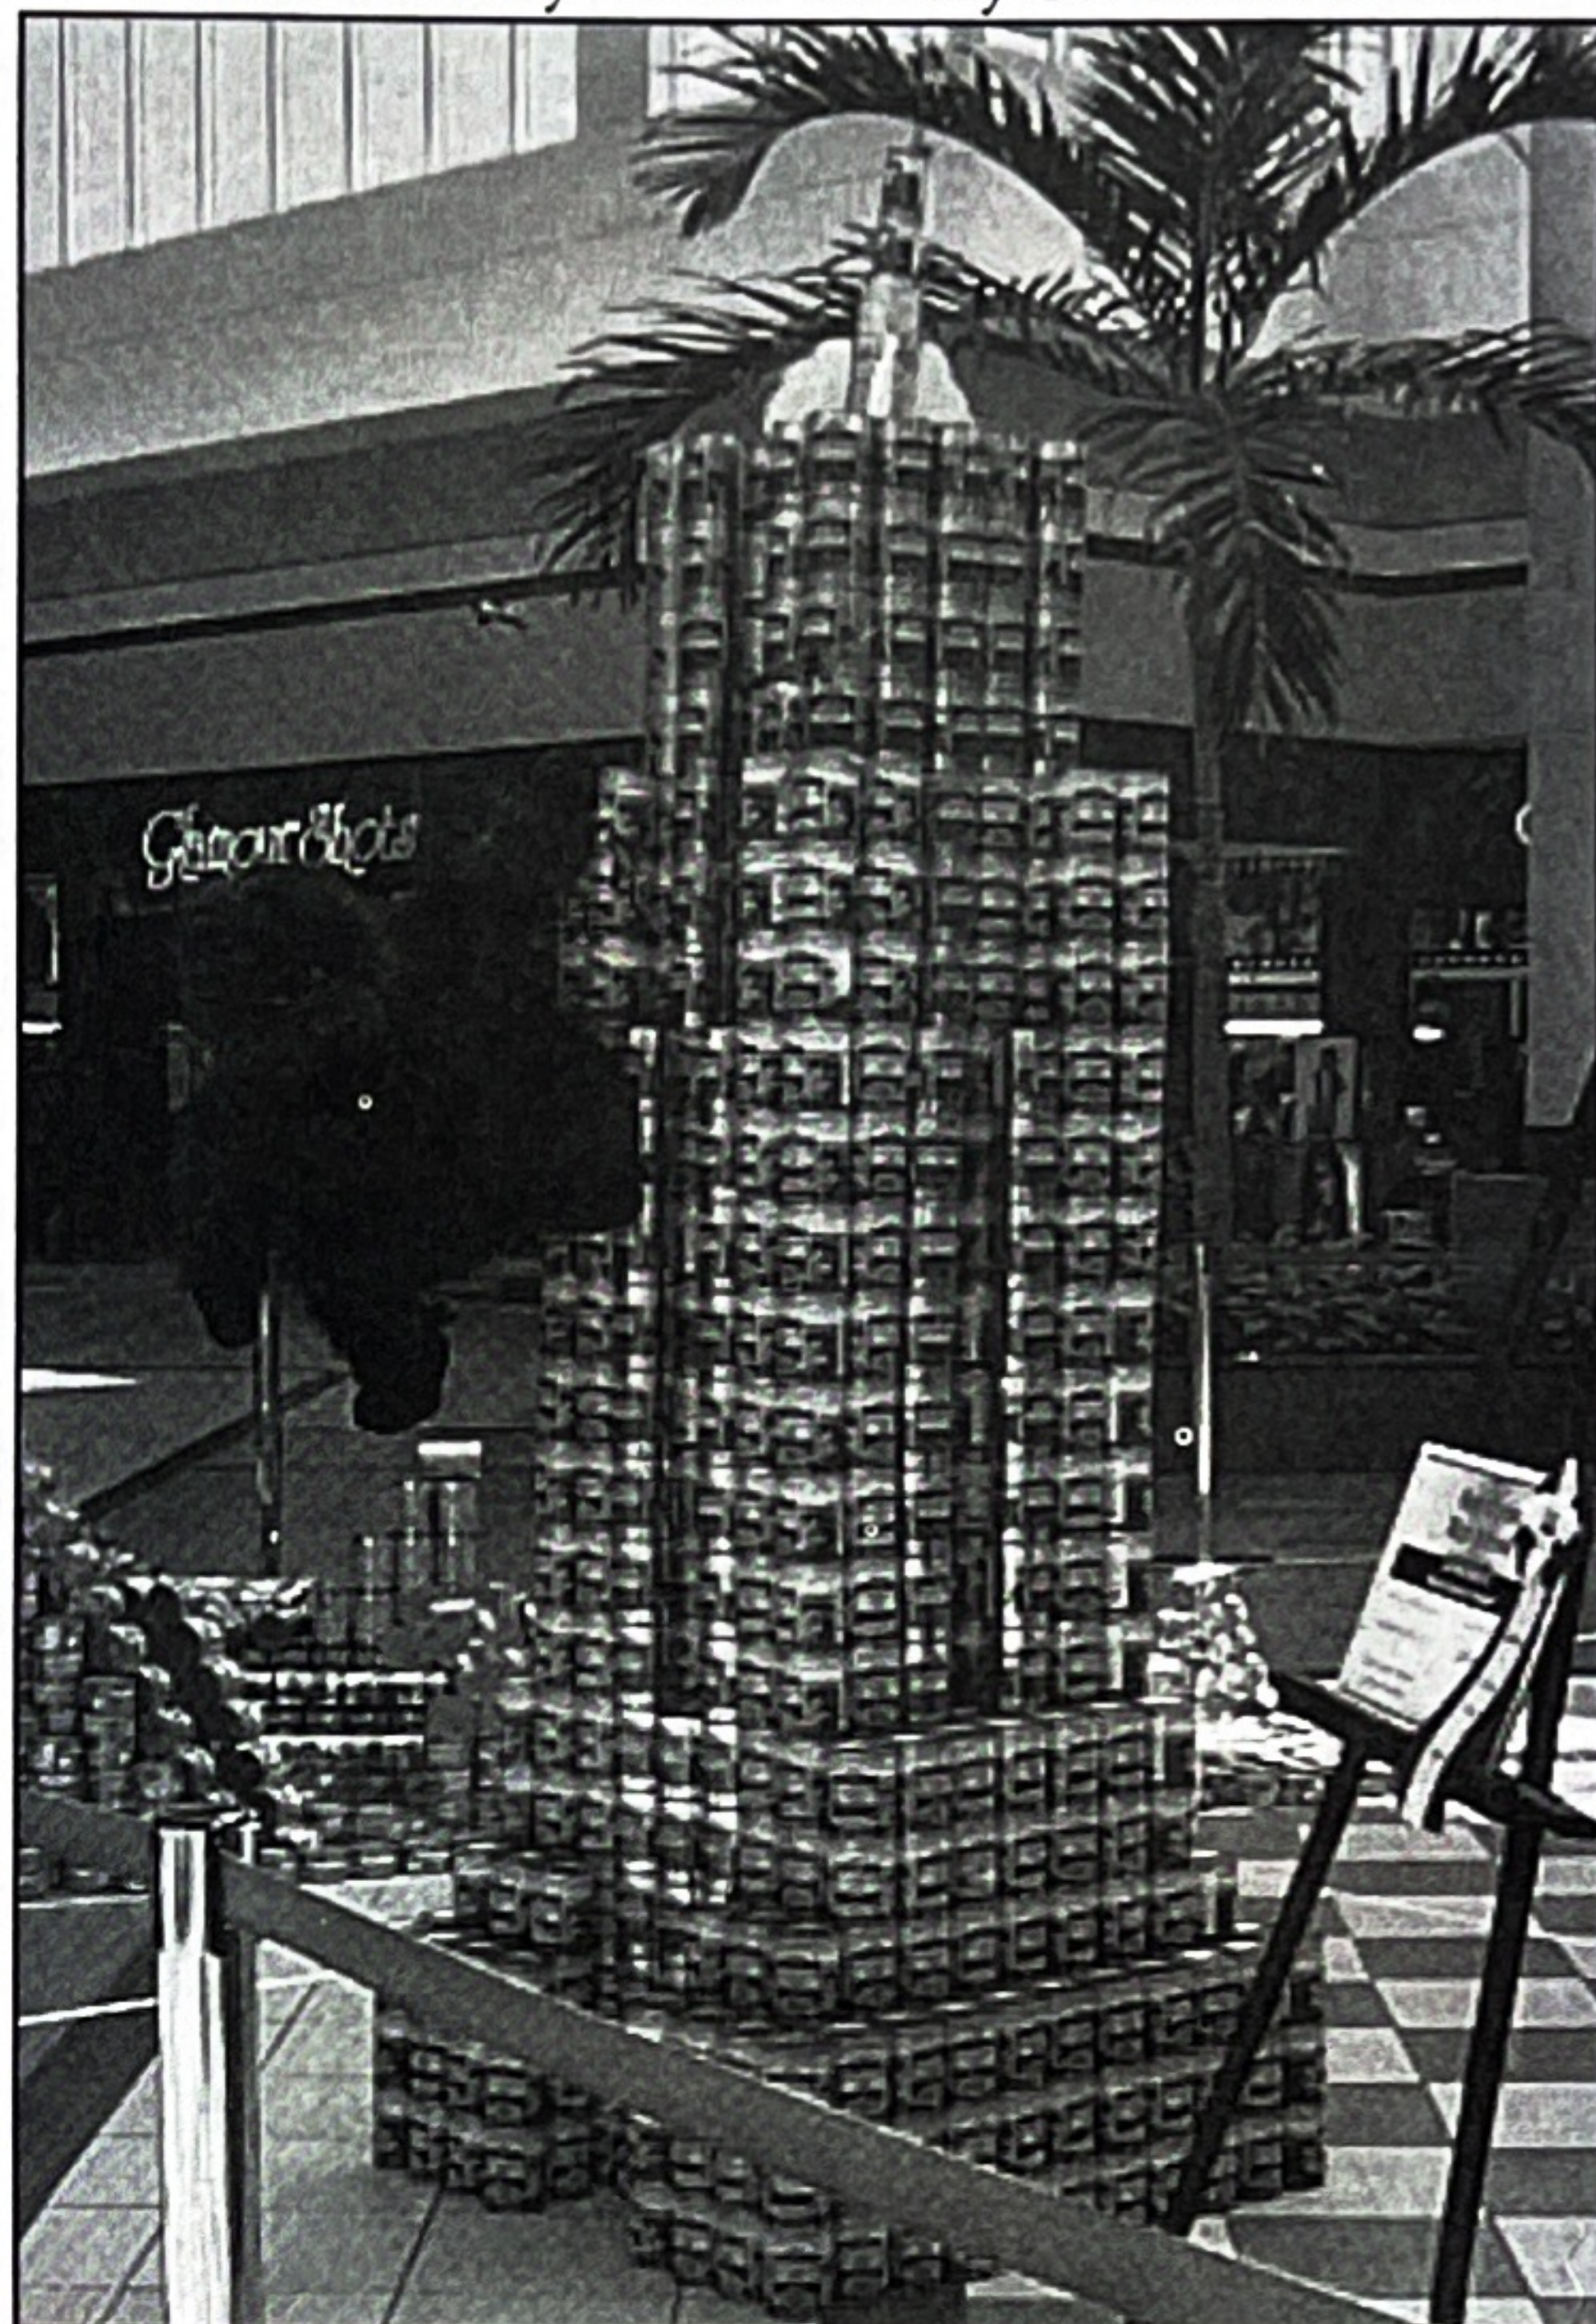

Sure enough, with a little rest and relaxation, my cold went away. I regained my voice, strength, grades, sanity, and best of all, my friends. Not only that, but I made new ones working backstage and on newspaper! Yeah, and I looked and felt better, too.

I guess that even though I was trying to keep from obsessing over myself and being unhappy, I just wound up worrying about everything, over-stressed and unhappy. I think from now on, I'm just going to relax, have fun, focus and just . . . be.

CANSTRUCTION

Photo courtesy of Lee County School District

Cape Coral High School's CANSTRUCTION of the Empire State Building was at the Edison Mall.

CANSTRUCTION is a national community service project that encourages architects and students to work together toward one common goal—to feed the hungry. While this event is in its fourth year nationally, this is Lee County's second year in participation. Sponsored by the Junior League of Fort Myers, local architects and students from Lee County schools combine efforts to create structures made from canned goods. These structures generate food and create awareness of the needs of hungry Americans.

The CANSTRUCTION exhibit was on display from February 24—March 4 at the Edison Mall. All canned goods will benefit the Harry Chapin Food Bank.

Cape High's CANSTRUCTION team built a replica of the Empire State Building. After the exhibit, Cape's students donated 1350 cans of food to the food bank. The team consisted of students from Miss Smock's fourth year drafting class; they were Nick Berry, Isaac Ruiz, and Russell Benzing, captain. The Cape High project received an Honorable Mention from the judges.

YEAS & NAYS

Yea to the seahawk statue finally being placed on a pedestal.

Yea to the performances by EkoTren and Twisted Method.

Nay to McDonalds burning down.

Yea to FCAT being over.

Yea to our baseball teams, and to Jason Fletcher's awesome arm!

Nay to the controversy surrounding the freshmen officers.

Yea to the fourth marking period starting soon.

Nay to the Sunday church group being able to have a speaker on the auditorium stage, while students and faculty can't step one foot on it.

Yea to our wrestling team

Nay to people missing deadlines.

Nay to Mr. Peck's departure.

Yea to Mr. Seahawk! Everyone go! There will be tons of surprises and fun!

Nay to the O-Town concert delay.

Yea to Tim Lowe representing CCHS in Hawaii.

Nay to the long haul to Spring Break.

Yea to Eminem and Elton John's performances at the Grammy's. The white rapper picked up three of those little statues.

Nay to delays in sprinkling the auditorium.

Yea to Mr. Kulie winning the Golden Apple after only teaching for two years!

Nay to the school shooting in Cali.

Only $29 for a 5 hour course—the cheapest in the area!!!
Call (941) 470-4207 today!!!

PROMTUX4U.COM

The place to go for the names you know.

Oscar de la Renta CHAPS FERRY ELLIS
BALMAIN LAUREN

Visit our on-line catalog for a dealer near you.

Cape's boys' baseball teams off to great start for season

Varsity Baseball

Meghan Peck

With eight returning players on the team, Cape High's varsity baseball team is hoping to continue its winning record from last year.

"Jason Fletcher, Eric Malone, and Adam Pitts were our leading hitters last year who are returning, but I anticipate Jake Stevens and Ross Coviello to contribute greatly in our offense," said head coach Chuck Insalaco.

Other returning players include seniors David Lemay, David Polinice, Billy Cornell, and junior Jimmy McGregor.

"I'm really excited about the team this year because, although we lost a lot of key players who graduated, we have a lot of young talent that will be able to develop into a strong team in years to come," said sophomore player Victor Rodriguez.

"We have a strong pitching staff with Jason Fletcher, Jake Stevens, Storm Litzler, Mike Minervini, and Billy Cornell," said Insalaco.

Last year, Cape lost the conference by one game in the 17th inning to North and lost districts 3-1 to Barron Collier, whom they had beaten twice in the regular season.

"We were close and, hopefully, we will be able to accomplish those things this year," Insalaco stated.

As of press time, the record for varsity was 7-1 with wins against Mariner twice, Estero twice, Cypress, Fort Myers, and Lehigh.

After the "Orange Crush" defeated Mariner, Insalaco stated, "That is what we said we were out to do, give an old-fashioned butt kickin' to our cross town rivals. It was a sweet victory."

One outstanding player is Jason Fletcher, pitching a no-hitter against Estero, as well as allowing only one hit and striking out ten in a match up against Mariner. Other top players are sophomore Jake Stevens, pitching and allowing only one hit in six innings, and seniors Eric Malone and David Lemay, hitting homeruns against the Cypress Panthers.

"I think the Hawks have something exciting going so far," said assistant coach Jeff Rosa. "We need to take each week one at a time, each game one at a time, and everything will be okay."

Cape Coral High School Baseball Team Rosters

Varsity Baseball Roster

Senior Billy Cornell
Junior Ross Coviello
Senior Jason Fletcher
Soph. David Koenig
Senior David Lemay
Soph. Storm Litzler
Senior Mike Macko
Senior Eric Malone
Junior Josh Masino
Junior Nick McCullers
Junior Jimmy McGregor
Soph. Mike Minervini
Junior Chris Moore
Senior Adam Pitts
Senior David Polinice
Soph. Victor Rodriguez
Soph. Mike Ruth
Soph. Jake Stevens

J.V. Baseball Roster

Fresh. Joey Ackers
Soph. Dusty Alexander
Fresh. Jackson Alphonso
Fresh. Gabe Bolano
Fresh. Ollie Boscarino
Soph. Robbie Costello
Soph. Brett DeClemente
Soph. Kevin DeFoe
Fresh. Jarrod Dugger
Fresh. Billy Gillen
Soph. Mike Gorton
Fresh. Jarbis Hernandez
Fresh. Mike Jones
Soph. Felix Kiely
Fresh. Mark Lennox
Fresh. Stephen Madrigal
Fresh. Evan Ramos
Soph. Jake Russ
Fresh. Steve Santora

J.V. Baseball

Meghan Peck

With a squad of 19 freshmen and sophomores, Cape High's junior-varsity baseball team is looking for a perfect record.

"We have a great practice ethic and great attitudes," said J.V. head coach Eric Yankovich.

So far, the team has a perfect record (8-0 as of press time) and is still working hard. They defeated Cypress in a shutout, 25-0, with 19 total hits. In the first inning alone, the Hawks were up 14-0, and had gone through the line-up twice. Sophomore pitcher Brett DeClemente pitched a nearly perfect game, relieved later by freshmen Billy Gillen.

"The team played great that night. We've got good chemistry together and we've got a great thing going," DeClemente said. Freshmen Jackson Alphonso hit a homerun, driving in three runs.

"We have fun and scrap when we're down," Yank stated. And the team proved it true in their game against Mariner. Cape was down 5-1 in the second inning. They came back with ten runs in the third inning, the final score 13-12, with Cape on top. Sophomore Mike Gorton was 3-3 with a double, which knocked in three runs, as well as a homerun.

Cape's next victim was Fort Myers, which they trampled 8-1. Freshmen Jarbis Hernandez was 2-3 with a three-run double. The winning pitcher was sophomore Dusty Alexander.

In the Early Bird Tournament, Cape again came out on top, defeating Estero, Mariner, and North. Pitchers for those games were Brett DeClemente, freshmen Joey Ackers, and Dusty Alexander. The team hit .518 in the tournament.

All Coach Yank had to say was, "They simply love the game!!!"

Ultra-Cross Competition

Michael Forgione

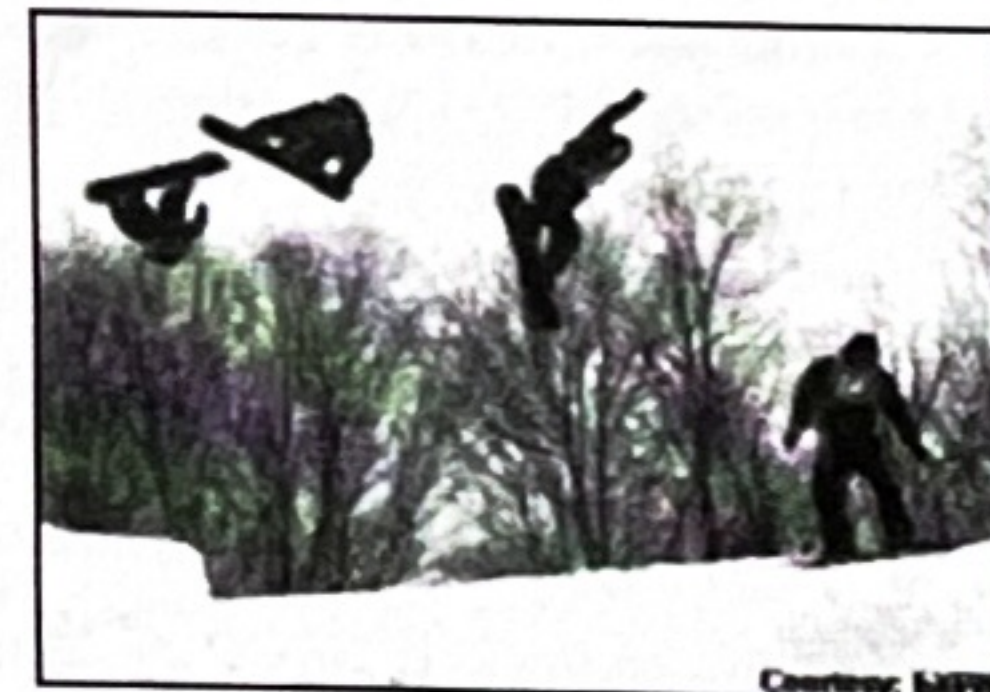

UltraCross is all about teamwork. Winter X icon Shaun Palmer and Japanese skier Hiroomi Takizawa did just that in winning the gold medal in the UltraCross competition on Exhibition Run in Mount Snow, Vermont on Saturday, February 24.

Vermont native Jason Evans and Austria's Isidor Gruener combined to take the silver medal, while Matt Murphy, of Big Sky, Montana, joined forces with Sweden's Pontus Staahkloo to grab the bronze.

In the first race, Palmer got off to another great start with a strong holeshot. He eased off to give Takizawa a comfortable head start that was nearly lost when the skier from Tokyo lost control and was passed by Zach Crist. Takizawa did not stay down for long and managed to finish in second place—advancing to the semifinals. Only the top two competitors would qualify for the next race.

Now it was Takizawa's chance to help Palmer, who got the classic holeshot as always, but fell back to the bottom of the course. The Palmer-Takizawa team lost a little ground, but Takizawa held his own to take second place behind Evans and Gruener.

Palmer and Takizawa pulled off the final without a problem. Both maneuvered as if they were floating. Palmer shot out of the gate into the lead, which he never let go, and Takizawa cruised down the course with ease to claim gold. Evans, a long-time Snowboarder X competitor of Palmer's knows all too well that when "The Palm" takes a lead, he rarely gives it back. Palmer's final run was typical of his unforgiving, competitive nature.

Recruiting Fair attracts schools and players

On Tuesday, February 27, Cape Coral High School was host to recruiters from 28 colleges who came to scope out senior football players from the area.

The college representatives had an opportunity to view films of games, speak with the players' coaches, and then to interview the students, many of whom brought their parents along.

Among the CCHS students who were highly sought after were David Lamay, Chris Wicks, Brian Wicks, and Dareck Pointer. Centex Rooney Construction underwrote the expense of the fair.

Order Your Custom Graduation Announcements

Locally At:

ARTHUR PRINTING

1518 SE 46th Lane, Cape Coral

941.542.2452

"CONCEPTION to COMPLETION"

Many samples to choose from or custom designed

10% DISCOUNT

WITH THIS AD